The Institute of Higher Education, ISEN, is a College of the University of Murcia, aimed at the quality of its training offer and its students.

Since its foundation, it has bet for being a quality educational project, specialized in social sciences.

At this Center we work on the creation, development and transfer of knowledge, convinced that training is the backbone of society.

ISEN as a Center

As a University Center, provides its students with a solid individual, social and work training, which allows them to function in their profession and in life with responsibility, efficiency, ethics, will to excel, critical spirit and freedom.

Our students acquire the professional knowledge, skills and abilities that endow them with a clear and preeminent position in the job market, whether in our Region, in the rest of Spain, or in any international sphere.

In the same way, we provide them with the necessary means so that they can develop and reach teaching and research skills in their respective academic fields.

At this Center we have the determination to manage and preserve the highest level of academic teaching quality in the degrees and studies we teach.

Academic Council

Our Academic Council, from the experience and the personal, and professional solvency, of all its members:

- Contributes to our institution reflection and a point of view that favors our permanent improvement and adaptation, and
- Promotes the present and future development of the Foundation, the Center and our Region.

Campus

The eclectic-style building (1926) located on the street Calle Menéndez y Pelayo, number 8, in Cartagena.

The original work of Lorenzo Ros, housed the former School of Apprentices of the Spanish Shipbuilding Society, and in the second half of the last century it became in Naval Museum.

The building is located in the city Center.

OUR MODEL IN THE ISEN UNIVERSITY CENTER
